Questions to ask when selecting a Section 529 Plan

When comparing 529 plans, consider these questions to determine if a particular plan has the flexibility to meet your needs.

- Are there state tax benefits for residents or negative tax consequences for non-residents?
- What are the minimum and maximum allowable contribution amounts?
- Are there any restrictions on who may be a beneficiary or what beneficiary changes can be made?
- What kind of account access is available (customer service representatives available by phone, online enrollment, internet access, etc.)?
- What is the process for taking withdrawals? Is paper documentation needed? Can checks be sent directly from the plan account to the school?
- What investment options are available? What are the underlying funds? What are the fees? How much investment flexibility is available?
